EMERGENCY FUNDRAISING APPEAL

Please help disabled children during the Covid-19 crisis

Caudwell Children has launched an emergency appeal to help disabled children and families through the coronavirus crisis.

Disabled children and their families are feeling isolated, fearful and confused and need our help more than ever.

Yet, the increased burden placed on the NHS and social services by the coronavirus outbreak means that many services for disabled children will be adversely impacted for the foreseeable future.

Emergency Fundraising Appeal

Caudwell Children is committed to providing a lifeline to thousands of vulnerable disabled children and families at this challenging time.

A significant percentage of our fundraising comes from charity events and individual challenges, which we are unable to hold for the foreseeable future due to restrictions on social gatherings. This makes it more difficult for us to support the thousands of disabled children who need our help.

Without continued support, disabled children will become the silent and forgotten victims of this terrible crisis.

WE NEED YOUR HELP

DONATE

100% of every single £1 donated will go to the disabled children who need our help.

FUNDRAISE

Why not take on a virtual challenge or fundraising initiative in your own home.

If unable to contribute, please pass the message onto friends and family who may be able to help.

Cycle MONTE CARLO FOR CAUDWELL CHILDREN

I hope you will join us for 'Cycle Monte Carlo for Caudwell Children' and help us make a difference to disabled children. This is the fifth 'Cycle with the Champions' event I have created to bring together friends and like-minded generous supporters to make a real difference to disabled children's lives.

I have supported the charity since 2016 and I have met and talked to a lot of families the charity has supported. As a mother of 1 I can only imagine the struggle that these families go through to get the support and help they need for their child.

Caudwell Children need our support more than ever and our cycle event will raise funds for their 'Emergency Fundraising Appeal', to ensure that disabled children can access the services that they need following the coronavirus crisis.

The charity is working relentlessly to continue providing a lifeline to thousands of disabled children and their families at this challenging time. By taking part in this event, for every mile on the bikes we will be making a real difference.

I am inspired to help make a difference, I hope you are too. Please join me on this cycle and let us come together to change as many children's lives as possible.
